

The Order of The.

Wall Daymart has been told (through ancient trade secrets) that it will be profitable to distribute his equity into holdings in 7+3 cities of Wogmarts, to ensure greater financial security. However, to escape detection of his evasion of the distribution-fee by the Council of the Fee Nicks, there is an order in which he must invest his money (an investment trail not monitored as closely, as a result of ancient tradition), which is based on this ancient map of the land.

The recommended order, however is given in an ancient script, of which he knows that two cities have had their name changed over time.

The following map lists the cities, beside the ancient order (funnily enough, with the more recent Hindu-Arabic numerals in Roman Script. Ah, who cares.)

The task is to figure out what the order of the cities is and which two cities have had changes in their names.

Bonus Question: How many references have we made?

1	⊕74ʷ	6	κςεκ
2	Δ7Β	7	Δ50
3	ΞΔ4	8	4⊕κ
4	ΥΔ1ʷ	9	WΔφ
5	4ʷΔ⊕	10	ϕ†4Δ

For convenience, here is an alphabetical list of city names:

- Aynuk
- Beritos
- Ebla
- Halab
- Megiduw
- Palmyra
- Qadesh
- Riblah
- Tripoli
- Tsarephath

Question: List the cities in the right order. For the two with untranslated names, use the projected old names.